In this edition of Cordery Head to Head @ Home Cordery's Jonathan Armstrong talks to Claudia Natanson.

Claudia is the former Chief Security Officer of The Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) the UK's largest Government department. Prior to that, Claudia had a distinguished career as a security professional and Chief Information Security Officer at blue-chip organisations including Diageo and BT.

Claudia and Jonathan talk about:

- how Claudia first became involved in cybersecurity;
- current threats including phishing and cybersecurity and the rise of criminal activity during the pandemic;
- the importance of human behaviour in dealing with those threats;
- the future of cybersecurity and how the profession might become more diverse.
