In this episode, Matt Kelly, Jonathan Marks, Mike Volkov, Jonathan Armstrong and Jay Rosen episode dedicate their collective reflections on the 20th anniversary of 9/11.

They end with a veritable mélange of shouts outs and one epic rant.

- Mike Volkov has a melancholy shout out for the US soldiers killed in the recent bombing in Kabul who were not yet born or very young children on 9/11.
- Jonathan Marks shouts out to the first responders of 9/11 and the men and women of the US military.
- Jay Rosen shouts to civility and unity, lost commodities in 2021 America and hopes we can reclaim those qualities that brought us together after 9/11.
- Matt Kelly has an epic rant on backsliders in politics and society that are running away from what America stands for.
- Jonathan Armstrong shouts out to all those first responders who run towards the danger and to Dr. Peter Holden and his colleagues who treated bombing victims on 7/7 in London.
- Tom Fox shouts out to men and women of the US military who went to war some 20 years ago when they were in the late teens and early 20s. He also shouts out to Iraq veteran John Lee Dumas who reminds us all that the US is the Land of the Free because of the Brave.
