

Unsung Heroes - Cordery's Armstrong wins award

Date : October 8, 2019

Photo courtesy of Dan Raywood

Security Serious – Unsung Heroes Awards

Cordery's Jonathan Armstrong won an award for leading data security compliance recently at the annual Security Serious "Unsung Heroes" awards.

The fourth annual awards celebrate the people of the cybersecurity industry, recognizing the individuals and teams working hard to fight cybercrime and raise awareness of security issues.

The results were announced at an event in central London on 3 October.

Cordery's efforts in making information security understandable include Cordery Breach Navigator. You can find more details of that here: <https://www.corderycompliance.com/solutions/breach-navigator/>

Against a seriously talented field of nominees, Cordery's Jonathan Armstrong won the prestigious 'Captain Compliance' award which goes to the person who has mastered legal jargon around compliance and has taken bold steps to ensure data protection. The judges said that Armstrong had "worked tirelessly to comply with the vast array of regulations that affect the industry".